
The Sites, They Are a Launchin

★ June 3rd, 2009 by Jessica

Here's an update about what's going on in the wonderful web world of {e} house studio. We've recently launched two great sites for some really great clients: FIG and Campion Platt.

As many of you Charlestonians know, FIG is one of the most popular and respected restaurants on the Peninsula, gaining national recognition in publications such as Southern Living and ForbesLife. {e} was very excited about working with Byrdhouse PR and FIG in revamping their new website! Along with a user-friendly interface, {e} developed an elaborate content management system to aid the restaurant in adding new photos, revising their menus and updating specials. We created a blog to spark communications between the restaurant and their devoted customers. {e} house also set up a Twitter account for their popular chef, Mike Lata, so he can share their nightly specials. The Twittering soon paid off since the restaurant picked up some press as a result! To make reservations or to simply peruse the site, go to www.eatatfig.com.

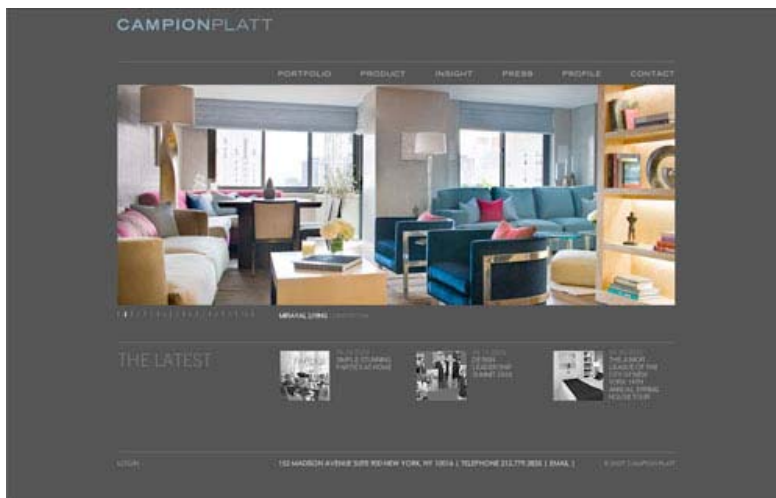

Want to keep up with what's going on with {e}, but don't want to continue checking back? Sign up for email updates and we will help you stay posted on what's new. Don't worry, no spam here.

Email

Campion Platt is one of the nation's most sought after Architects. {e} house recently worked with our friends over at FORMO by coding the front end of the new website and developing a content management system for the New York based architect and interior designer. Campion Platt's work has been featured in Veranda, Martha Stuart, House Beautiful, and he's also been distinguished as one of Architectural Digest's Top 100 Architects. We're delighted to have received the opportunity to work on the project!

Leave a Reply

Name (required)

Mail (will not be published) (required)

Website

A list of resources to recycle anything from old running shoes